DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This farm is located along Monroe Road north of Maryland Route 34, northwest of Boonsboro in Washington County. The house and barn are situated on opposite sides of the road, each facing east.

The house is a two story, five bay brick structure resting on low fieldstone foundations. A two story, two bay wing or ell extends to the rear. According to the present owner, the house was built by his great grandfather in 1883. American bond brick work is displayed at all elevations. Segmental arches of upright bricks are present above the openings. Windows have two over two pane sashes, the upper sections following the arch of the window head. Hinge pins for shutters remain.

The main entrance is centered in the front elevation. It is framed and trimmed similarly to the windows and includes an arched transom. Protecting the entrance is a one bay, one story porch with a scroll cut balustrade. A plainer late 19th century balustrade spans a two story recessed porch at the south elevation of the ell.

The roof is sheathed with sheet metal and shingles and extends beyond the end walls of the house. Brick chimneys with several courses of corbeling are present inside the end walls.

Opposite the house is a frame bank barn with a concrete silo. The barn has a relatively elaborate scalloped barge board which extends along the eaves at the front and back walls as well. At each corner is a decorative heart shaped pendant. The barn is said to have been built in 1882. Also part of the complex are numerous agricultural structures.

Along the east side of Monroe Road, north of the house and barn are two gravestones. On one could be read the name Wagoner and the date 1836. This does not appear to be the original location of the graves.

The buildings are in excellent condition.
